WILL LOOK AT COFFEE FIELDS.

Business Men to Leave for Hawaii Today.

SPECIAL TRIP OF THE CLAUDINE.

Directors of the Aloha Company Visit the Islands in Order to Report Upon the Plantations in Cultivation at Olaa, on the Volcano Road.

The Claudine will make a special trip to Hilo, leaving today in order to accommodate several business men, who came down by the Australia and who wish to return to the coast by the Alameda.

This trip is incidental to the influx of large sums of money, all of which will go out to labor, which will cultivate the coffee fields on the Volcano road.

There arrived on the Australia Messrs. A. Th. Gruetter and C. Witkowski, the former from Denver, Col., the latter from Chicago. They are directors in the Aloha coffee plantation, and their visit to these islands is in order to report the progress made in the agricultural pursuit.

There are now two corporations in Chicago which are interested in the raising of coffee on the island of Hawaii—the Aloha and the Kona. Mr. P. Peck, of this city was instrumental in starting both, and it was at his request that the gentlemen named came here on a tour of investigation. The Aloha Company started with a capital stock of $600,000.

In conversation last evening the gentlemen interested in the Aloha stated that they expected to export most of the coffee to Europe, although a demand existed in the United States, and would undoubtedly increase. Samples of coffee raised on Hawaii have been shown to commission merchants on State street and Wabash avenue, Chicago, and they have pronounced it as good as any received by them, if not better, and have agreed to take all that can be given them when the berries are ready for export.

Mr. Higgins will also go by the Claudine. He is president of the Kona company.

The Aloha company at present controls 800 acres and the Kona company 940 acres.

SOUTH KONA PROSPECTUS.
A prospectus of the South Kona Coffee Company (Limited) has lately been issued. Messrs. H. Hackfeld & Co., are to be the agents of the new company. There are a limited number of shares left for sale. See advertisement in this issue. The following is a comment on the enterprise taken from "The Planter's Monthly" for September:

A new coffee enterprise is soon to be started in Kona, Hawaii, under the name of "South Kona Coffee Company." Its site is located on the land called Papa, some four or five miles from the dividing line between the districts of Kona and Kau, with Hoopuloa as its port or landing which is only four miles from the Government road, and easily accessible at all seasons of the year. The land is owned by Mr. J. M. Monsarrat of this city, and is believed to be among the best for coffee growing in Kona, as the soil consists of very rich a-a, and is easily worked. The Government road traverses this land at an elevation of about 1200 feet above the sea, affording the best climate for coffee to be found anywhere. It is proposed to organize a company with a capital of $40,000, with privilege to increase it to $100,000. Under proper management this enterprise promises to be one of the safest and best now open to capitalists here or abroad.

NOW FOR AN OCEAN CABLE.

A Special Commissioner Here From Canada.

OBJECT OF MR. FLEMING'S VISIT.

He is Extended Official Courtesies by Minister Hawes and Captain May—Will Treat With This Government on the Important Subject at Once.

There is a gentleman in town whose presence here means more to the people of Hawaii than most people are aware of. Indeed, only a half-dozen know that with him practically rests the all important question whether the Pacific cable, soon to be laid between Vancouver, B. C., and the British colonies in the South Seas, shall have a landing place at Honolulu or not.

Yang-Wei. Chao-Yong. King-Yuen.
CHINESE CRUISERS DESTROYED IN THE RECENT NAVAL BATTLE.

His name is Sanford Fleming, and his life's history is connected with some of the great works in the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Fleming, accompanied by W. H. Mercer, arrived by the Australia Saturday. A. G. S. Hawes, Acting British Commissioner, had been apprised that Mr. Fleming would arrive by that steamer, and before she was sighted he engaged for him suite No. 17, which is considered the finest at the Hawaiian hotel. Mr. Hawes met Mr. Fleming, not as an individual, but as an official, and later on Captain May, of the Hyacinth, called upon the new arrival.

This official courtesy demonstrates that Mr. Fleming is not here in an individual capacity, nor as the representative of a corporation. Indeed, he is a special commissioner from the Dominion and his object in this city is to make some arrangement with the Government for the landing of the cable here.

It is said that this Government was also apprised of his coming and is anxiously waiting what overtures there are to be made.

Mr. Fleming's name has been connected with many public enterprises in the Dominion. He personally supervised some of the surveys of the Canadian Pacific Railway and was identified with a number of other works.

Since his arrival in Honolulu Mr. Fleming has devoted himself to sightseeing and Mr. Hawes has shown him many of the charms of Oahu. It is not known when he will make his first official visit to the Executive Building, but he will probably call there today. Not having presented his credentials, it is not known what title Mr. Fleming bears, but the official courtesies shown him indicate that it is a high one.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE BATTLE.

Names of Japanese Officers Who Were Killed.

Consul-General Fujii Receives Information From Tokio Regarding the Fierce Conflict.

Consul-General Fujii received by the Australia the official account from Tokyo of the recent great naval battle. It was cabled to the Japanese representatives in the United States and by them forwarded to Mr. Fujii. The report reads:

On September 17th the Imperial

KLEMMER AND CORDER FINED.

Each Assessed Fifty Dollars for Assaulting Miller.

AN APPEAL TAKEN BY THEM.

Schuetzen Club Affairs Not Aired in Court—The Defendants Censured and Told that, Being Police Officers, Aggravated the Offense Committed.

The District Court room was crowded yesterday morning, the majority of those present being members of the Schuetzen Club, who were interested in the assault case brought by A. E. W. Miller against Captain Klemme and Lieutenant Gus. Cordes, of the mounted police.

It was generally supposed that the internal affairs of the two Schuetzen Clubs would be venti-

King-Yuen.

lated in court, and the causes of the recent split up be fully explained, but no such statements were made.

Klemme and Cordes pleaded not guilty. Miller, the complaining witness, took the stand and told his side of the story. He said he had an appointment with the Marshal on Saturday morning.
The Marshal was busy, and Miller waited in the hall until he could see him. While he was walking up and down in front of the office, he saw Klemme and Cordes coming. He expected an attack from Klemme, as the latter had threatened him before. He heard Klemme, as he came toward him, make some remark about him.
He looked around, and saw Klemme making ready to strike him. He avoided the blow, and grappled with Klemme. He succeeded in getting his left arm around Klemme's neck and began punching him on the head. All this time Klemme was kicking and hitting him. Just then he felt some one else striking him on the back of his head. These blows soon stopped and the men struggled a short while, when Miller felt a hand coming around from the back of his head and trying to gouge out his eyes. He supposed this hand belonged to Cordes. He seized the hand and bit it.

Both men then jumped on him, and struck and kicked him repeatedly, until separated by policemen.

This is Miller's story, which, with the exception of a few minor points, was corroborated by several witnesses.

Klemme was called to the stand by the defense, and said that a man named John Xavier had told him, the day before the assault, that Miller was carrying a pistol, and had threatened both him and Cordes. When he came to the Station House Saturday morning he saw Miller standing in the corridor. As he came towards him, Miller turned and put his hand behind him, as though he was going to show a pistol. Klemme immediately grappled with him, as he thought his life was in danger. He did not strike nor kick him at all.

Cordes also denied striking Miller, though he acknowledged striking at him, but missing him.

John Xavier testified to having been told by Miller that he was carrying a gun, and had to do it, as Klemme had threatened his life.

In summing the case up, Judge Perry said that the fact of the defendants being police officers aggravated the gravity of their offense.
He fined them each $50 and costs.

Both defendants appealed to the Circuit Court. J. L. Kauloku was their attorney.
